Burning Money!

How often, under the guise of making a good trade, subsequent experience proved you were misled, and a victim of either a glib, olly tongue, or an exaggerated ad. At the time you did not realize your money going up in smoke. These misropresentations seem to be frequent occurrences, and should cause you to exercise the greatest care in making your purchases. You should make certain to procure Goods of unquestionable quality-shoddy Goods are dear for a song. It is the quality of Goods such as we sell that helps to increase our business and adds new pations to the already long list that favors us. Samuel J. Sloman died last Thursday morning at his home in Atlanta, Ga., where he had been engaged in business for twenty years or more. Mr. Sloman was born in Germany 67 years ago, and came to America when only a youth. He lived in Anderson several years preceding the civil war, and when this State seceded he entered her service as a member of the Palmatto Riffemen from this city. He was highly esteemed by his comredes, and his old friends nere will regret to hear of his death. A wife, one son and two daughters survive him.

The 26th annual convention of the South Carolina Sanday School Convention will be held in the Washington Street Presbyterian Church, Greenville, on the 25th, 26th and 27th inst. This convention represents the associated Sunday Schools of South Carolina of all evangelical faiths, and every white Sunday School in the State may send delegates without limit to number. Entertainment will be provided for all delegates, and those who contemplate going should write to Prof. E. L. Hughes, Greenville, S. C. An interesting programme has been arranged for the occasion, and Anderson County should be largely represented there.

Policeman James G. O'Dounell should be congratulated. The loading negroes of the city have a habit of lounging on a brick wall on Depot street, and it is very disagreeable to ladies to pass down that street on that account. Yesterday Officer O'Donnell made the whole dirty gang arise and march. We hope he will see that it stays clear of negroes. On the corner of McDuffie and Depot streets negroes flock in great gangs—principally on account of this point being so near the dispensary—and it is a great misance. Cursing and vile talk is plontiful on this corner. It is hardly ilt for a lady to pass along this point at any time. We would like to see the police remedy this bad state of affairs.

County should be largely represented there.

County should be largely represented there.

The Moorehead family reunion will be held at the old homestead, now owned by Robert Moorehead, three miles north of the city, on Thursday, Angust 20th. A large gathering of the members of the clan with their friends is expected. General M. L. Bonham will be the principal orator of the occasion and several other speakers are expected to take part in the exercises. The basket pionic feature is an i-nportant part of the proceedings and the ladies will do themselves great honor in the preparation of the necessary provisions for this occasion. Let all interested in the reunion come prepared to enjoy themselves and thus add to the pleasure of others.

The jewelry store of T. H. Donnelly at Piedmont was burglarized lest Friday night. The loss amounts to $50 or $75.

The annual summer excursion from Charleston to the mountains will be run on Wednesday. 19th inst. The railroads expect the largest crowd they have had in years. The round trip fare from Charleston to Anderson is $5.75.

A. J. Simpson leaves today for his home in Russellville, Ark. He has been spending several weeks in Anderson visiting friends and relatives. His daughter, Miss Bettie, who accompanied him here, will remain until Friday.

The canning factories that have been established in this State are said to be profitable and it seems reasonable to suppose that one would pay in Anderson. The local consumption here requires an immense quantity of canned goods—tomatoes especially—annually.

Be sure to read the advertisement of L. P. Smith's excursion to Asheville next Tuesday, and if you want to have an enjoyable trip we advise you to go on it. The train will leave Pendleton at 7a. m. and run via Anderson, Belton and Greenville. The advertisement gives full particulars.

The C. A. Reed Music House was visited by a large crowd of people last week, and everybody admired the beautiful decorations on the interior of the building as well as those on the outside. Every day the music rendered on the fine planos was greatly enjoyed by the visitors, and Mr. Reed and his assistants were highly compliment. his assistants were highly compliment-ed by their friends.

John W. Carpenter, of Clinton, has been spending a few days in the city visiting his brother, A. M. Carpenter. Mr. Carpenter has been an inmate of the Thornwell Orphanage since he was a small boy, and for several years has been an instructor in that institution. He has decided to enter the Presbyterian ministry, and will begin his course in the Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., this fall.

The room occupied by the managers The room occupied by the managers of the merry-go-round, in the residence of C. L. Angel, on Depot street, was entered last Thursday, their trunk knocked open with an axe and a small box, containing $148 was stolen therefrom. The theft was at once reported to Chief Dillingham, and two white men, charged with the crime, were arrested. The preliminary hearing was set for yesterday but was postponed until September 3rd, and the men gave bond for their appearance at that time.

Married, on Sunday, August 2, 1903, at the residence of Hugh Ballard, by W. H. Acker, Notary Public, Broadus Ballard and Miss Sallie Williams; also, at the same place and by the same official, on Saturday, August 8th, Chester Hannah and Miss Annah Ballard. All of the parties are from Anderson County. On Saturday afternoon Squire Acker, at his home, also tied the nuptial knot for Henry Hindman and Miss Lou Vaughn, both of whom live in Greenville County.

frequent visitor to the Camp of the Third Regiment.

All the members will be transacted. as well as possible.

Dr. J. B. Hunnicut, editor of the Southern Cultivator, delivered a most interesting and practical address in the Court House last Friday afternoon, and it was heard by a large and appreciative audience. He advised the farmers to raise more forage crops and less cotton, and urged deep plowing. He went from Anderson to Mountain Springs, where he delivered an address at the meeting held there on Saturday. The Doctor made many friends during his visit here, and they would be delighted to have him come again.
